

LICENSING GUIDE

Offline licensing

How to license your NUGEN Audio product

Español

Português

Offline Licensing

To begin the licensing process, you need to obtain a license code by purchasing the product either from the NUGEN web shop or from a reseller. Challenge Response licenses require no additional hardware or software, and can be applied to a machine with or without internet access. This document describes the offline licensing process. Please note that offline licensing requires another computer with internet access.

- Open the plug-in interface. You should be prompted by this screen:

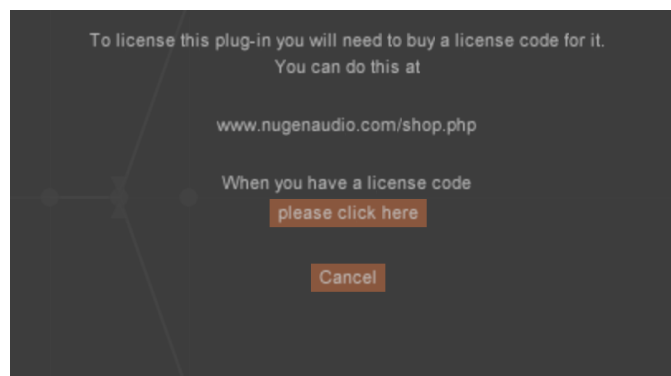

- If you have already dismissed this screen, you can reach it again by clicking on the NUGEN Audio logo within the plug-in, and selecting 'Licensing' from the menu.
- Click the 'Use License' button. You should see the following options:

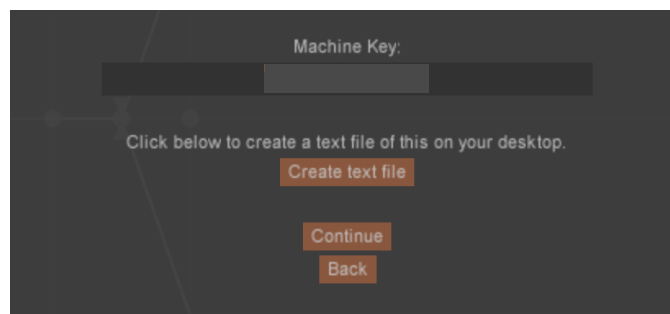

(Please note, your computer must be connected to the internet in order to use online licensing.)

- Select 'Off-line'. You should see a text box as shown below:

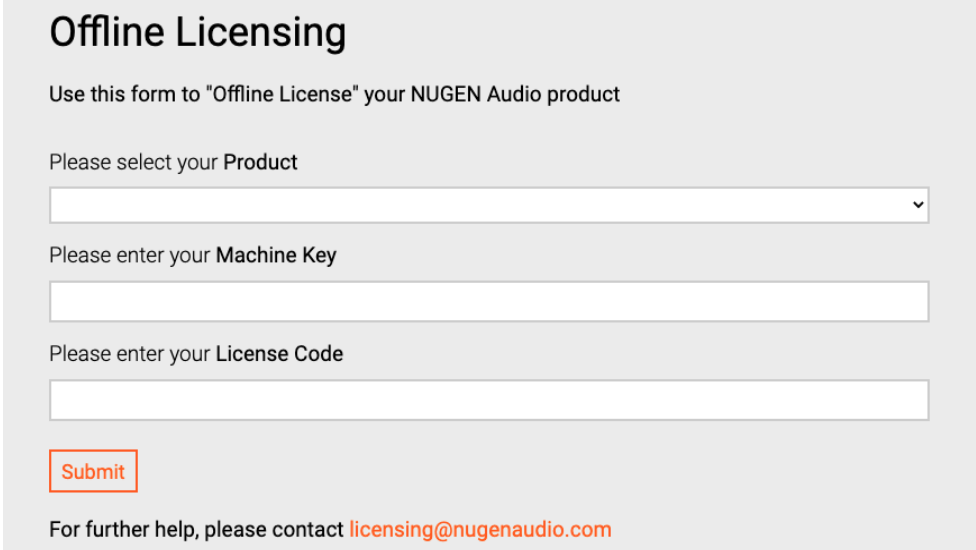

- If you have a license code, select 'please click here'. You will then see your Machine Key, as shown below:

(Please note, the Machine Key is unique to your computer.)

- On a different machine with internet access, visit nugenaudio.com/offline-licensing

Offline Licensing

Use this form to "Offline License" your NUGEN Audio product

Please select your Product

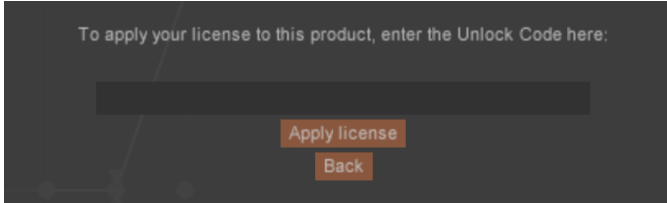

Please enter your Machine Key

Please enter your License Code

Submit

For further help, please contact licensing@nugenaudio.com

- Select your product, and enter your machine key and license code as instructed
- This will generate an unlock code. Go back to your offline machine and click 'Continue', then enter your unlock code and click 'Apply license'.

To apply your license to this product, enter the Unlock Code here:

Apply license

Back

- You can now return to the main plug-in interface.
- Each license purchase entitles you to license two copies of the software for your own personal use (e.g. laptop and studio machine). If the two machines are likely to be used simultaneously, you must purchase an additional license.

Contact support@nugenaudio.com for further assistance.

 NUGEN Audio